

APA—Administrative Professional Association

Your membership is important!

APA members, as a collective whole, provide the strength needed to communicate concerns, develop solutions, as well as explore policies and benefits with University administration. We are only as effective as we are strong—your membership counts!

APA members are proud to provide the support, knowledge, and expertise that makes Western Michigan University a great institution to both receive an education and to be employed. As an APA member, you may take pride in the fact our organization works hard to provide an environment where the value of all Western employees is acknowledged and recognized.

Membership with APA provides opportunities for leadership outside your job parameters through appointed committees. APA also represents professional, technical, and administrative staff on University boards and committees.

Friends of APA

Friends of APA are new hires or transfer that are new to the University or new to exempt status at WMU. During the current membership year, Friends of APA will receive all APA communications and can attend APA events. At any time, they can become a member, and receive member benefits, by payment of their membership dues.

Accomplishments

The following are examples of policies and benefits which have been developed or expanded based upon recommendations from the APA:

- Flex-time available year round
- Tuition discounts for staff and dependents
- Sick leave payoff
- Dependent care spending accounts
- Making a Difference Award
- Campus Employee Dispute Resolution Service (CEDRS)
- Scholarship for APA dependents
- Increase tuition eligibility from 6 to 8 hours

APA receives input on concerns and issues by periodically surveying all APA members. This information is then used as the basis for ongoing forums with the administration in developing solutions to issues vital to both the University and its employees.
