CORP 4030: PLANNING LAW & ADMINISTRATION

TUESDAY 6:00 PM – 8:30 PM, 2129 WOOD HALL
CRN: 46024

CORP 4030 will benefit a wide range of majors and give you real world examples. For a limited time we are opening the course up to all university majors. Come to our office and we will register you. Register now to make sure you get a spot!

Topics the class will cover include:

- Legal foundations of Land Use Planning in the United States and the State of Michigan including governmental institutions
- Real property
- Constitutional law
- Land use law
- Environmental law
- Administrative aspects of governmental practice as applied to land use regulation
- Land development
- Regional plan development and implementation

As the instructor of this class, I will prioritize those laws that most directly affect the day to day function of being a Planning Director and Zoning Administrator. I will cover the language of the law in depth and update the class on any court decisions that could impact any of the laws that we will study, J. McManus,
