More for the Book Artist in Special Collections

Our librarians have purchased more artists books and fine printing materials for the Special Collections and Rare Books Room in Waldo Library. Among the new acquisitions is “End of the Decade”, a collection of works by well known contemporary artists such as Sol Lewitt and Betsey Johnson created at the beginning of their careers in the 1970s. Media represented include photography, printmaking, glass, plaster impressions, drawing, painting, textiles, and more. Visit Special Collections to see a growing collection of artists books and rare printed materials. Here’s more info:

Librarian is In...the RCVA

Because we know that you cannot always find time to visit the library, the library is coming to you in the RCVA. Put these dates on your calendar! Your librarian will be setting up shop in the student lounge of the RCVA from noon to 2 pm on the following dates: September 29, October 21, and November 19. Let the librarian assist you and your students in research for papers and projects. A reminder has been posted to the VRL blog. Check out our blog:

ARTstor, CAMIO, and AP Images Database Training in Waldo Library

Temple of Olympian Zeus, Athens, Greece. Begun 6th century BCE, completed by Hadrian in 2nd century CE.

Need the perfect digital image of to illustrate your lecture? University Libraries has what you need—image databases. ARTstor, CAMIO, and AP Images training sessions are scheduled to take place during the month of September. Visual Resources Librarian, Miranda Howard, is offering hands-on instruction in using these three subscription databases in Classroom B of Waldo Library. Join the group sessions to learn how to search and prepare images for presentations as well as how to use these databases effectively as research and teaching tools. ARTstor, AP Images, and CAMIO combined contain over 1 million resources for teaching. ARTstor is also linked with JStor so it is now possible for you to combine image and text searches. Enhance lectures and encourage students to use the best digital images available in papers and projects by using these library databases. Individual hands-on training is also available through the Visual Resources Library located in 2213 Sangren. For the complete training session schedule, click on the link below and view the September calendar.
