

Ph.D. Reading List Political Theory

This reading list is divided into two principal sections - the Canon and Contemporary and Democratic Theory. Exams will include questions drawn from both sections.

Canon

You are responsible for all works in the Canon Core. The Theory Field Committee strongly suggests that you familiarize yourself with at least two items (i.e., texts, not authors) in each of the historical categories within the Canon Supplemental section. Submit a list of the supplemental items you have prepared, along with a brief thematic rationale for your choices, by the time you apply to take your exam. You should choose items from the supplemental list in consultation with the members of the Theory Field Committee, who can help you choose items based on your research interests and/or on substantive topics

Read the entire text unless selections are specified.
