EDLD 6890: White Privilege and White Identity Development
Fall 2017

This course discusses issues of White privilege, White identity development, and related concepts and the influence of these concepts on sociocultural relations within higher education settings and in larger society.

Thursdays, 6:00-8:50 pm
D. Eric Archer, PhD, Assistant Professor
Educational Leadership in Higher Education
Allied Faculty, Global and International Studies Program

Textbooks:
Helms, J. E. (2007). A race is a nice thing to have: A guide to being a White person or understanding the White persons in your life (2nd ed.). Amherst, MA: Microtraining Associates, Inc.

Please direct questions and enrollment requests to: eric.archer@wmich.edu