

WESTERN MICHIGAN UNIVERSITY

Disability Services for Students (DSS)

Student's Responsibility:

- Identify him/herself as a person with a disability
- Provide current documentation or supporting evidence that the disability substantially limits the student's ability to function in a major life activity
- Student must, in a timely manner, request accommodations needed for each class every semester
- Provide instructors with a Disability Services for Students accommodation card
- Meet with the instructors every semester to discuss the particulars of each accommodation request
- Understand that CELCIS cannot provide accommodations without an accommodation card from Disability Services for Students
- Student must contact DSS BEFORE arriving in the U.S. to discuss their disability:

CELCIS expects all students to be able to do the following without assistance from the CELCIS faculty or staff:

- Get from your home to class
- Get from one classroom to another; from one campus building to another
- Purchase the course materials
- Communicate with university personnel on business and personal matters
- Get needed medical assistance related to your accommodation independently

* CELCIS expects all students to complete the standard CELCIS curriculum and assessment. Students must be able to study in CELCIS classes without special accommodations unless they have arranged their accommodations with Disability Services for Students prior to beginning classes.
